U.S. SUPREME COURT JUSTICE NEIL GORSUCH SET TO SPEAK AT THE JUNE 14, 2021 EVENT

At the awards program this year Associate Justice Neil M. Gorsuch of the Supreme Court of the United States

He presents his perspective on the constitutional balance necessary to maintain our republic. His book is well written and full of interesting stories."

Mr. Burton added "We are delighted and honored that the Justice will attend and be our Guest of Honor. The 21st awards program is sure to be truly spectacular."

DEAN DARBY DICKERSON, GREAT FRIEND OF THE AWARDS PROGRAM, ELECTED PRESIDENT OF ASSOCIATION OF AMERICAN LAW SCHOOLS

In response to law firms and legal organizations shortening or canceling their summer programs, Darby Dickerson, Dean and Professor of Law at UIC John Marshall Law School, and the current president of the Association of American Law Schools, developed a 10-week Summer Associate

Training Academy to help students that were affected. Topics were selected based on those that law students would have been exposed to if they were working onsite this summer. These topics include: communicating effectively with supervisors and support staff; drafting effective time entries; revising and proofreading your own work; negotiating and drafting settlement agreements; appreciating ethical, civility and professionalism norms; promoting diversity, equity and inclusion in the legal profession; recognizing various legal and ethical issues related to the COVID-19 pandemic; the importance of pro bono work; and more.

Dickerson has served as a dean for 17 years.
